BUILDING CODE
PASSAGE SPEEDS
PLANS FOR NEW MOTOR HOTEL

Announcement of $2,- 500,000 Project Is Made After Aldermen Pass Measure,
27 to 1.

Passage of the new building code will speed up completion of plans for a new $2,500,000 motor hotel at Fourth street and Washington avenue, Norman K. Probst, president of the developing company, said today.

The Board of Aldermen passed the code yesterday by a 27-1 vote without two amendments which were regarded by supporters of the code as designed to cripple it. The only dissenting vote was cast by Alderman Alfred I. Harris (Dem.), Twenty-second ward.

Probst and architects for the planned motor hotel were in the gallery when the bill was approved.

"Now that we know what code we will be operating under, I told the architects to go ahead forthwith," Probst said. "Also, we are drawing up specifications and expect to take bids in two or three weeks on demolition."

12-Story Structure.
The planned 12-story motor hotel, to be named the Bel Air East, will be built on a block now occupied by the vacant Shapleigh Brothers Hardware Building. Probst is general manager of the Bel Air West Motor Hotel, 4630 Lindell boulevard.

Others who had supported the code were jubilant and predicted that the beginning of a surge in construction will be seen in six months.

Arthur E. Wright Jr., executive director of Downtown St. Louis, Inc., said plans for a number of large-scale building projects will be announced in coming months. Razing of existing buildings to make way for other announced projects also will begin on a larger scale, he said.

"It may be a year before any earth is turned," Wright said, "but from now on, everybody who has been holding up plans to see which code would be in effect can go back to work and go full blast."

New Designs.
Neal J. Campbell, chairman of the citizens committee which prepared the code over a five-year period, said the effect of the aldermanic action will be seen in five months in the design of planned new buildings.

"Architects will create new designs using modern metal panel fronts now that such buildings can be built economically, without concrete block or brick behind the panels," he said.

Ten amendments to the code were passed by the board yesterday, eight of them sponsored by the city administration. The so-called crippling amendments sponsored by the Bricklayers Union and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers were not introduced.

The bricklayers' proposal would have required that four-hour fire-resistant material be used in some multi-story buildings in place of two-hour fire resistance required by the code as written, and the electrical workers' amendment would have required use of rigid metallic conduits instead of flexible, non-metallic conduits.

Proponents said both amendments were in the interest of Fugitive Wounds State Trooper in Fight, Kills Man Who Gave Him Ride.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., March 18—A murder warrant was to be sought here today against Douglas Wayne Thompson, escaped California convict, who was captured yesterday after fatally shooting a Clubb (Mo.) man and wounding a state trooper near here.

The 27-year-old Thompson, object of an intensive manhunt since he and a companion allegedly killed a Cape Girardeau policeman March 10, opened fire when State Trooper Glen E. Davis stopped an automobile in which Thompson was riding about four miles north of Popular Bluff yesterday.

Davis was wounded and Raymond S. Glover, a 45-year-old sawmill laborer who had given Thompson a ride out of the search zone, was killed.

Thompson fled in the patrol car to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clanahan of nearby Hillard, Mo. Mrs. Clanahan managed to notify police, who then came to the house. Thompson then surrendered without a struggle after Mrs. Clanahan told him there had been enough killing.

Others Recaptured.
Two other men who escaped with Thompson last Feb. 27 from jail at San Luis Obispo, Calif., were recaptured last Saturday. Sammy Aire Tucker, 26, who was wounded in an exchange of fire with Cape Girardeau police March 10, was caught near Grassy, Mo.

The other man, Calvin Willis Johnson, 22, was arrested near Jackson, Mo. He did not participate in either police shooting.

Auxiliary Patrolman Herbert Goss, 67, of Cape Girardeau, was killed and Patrolman Don Crittendon, 25, seriously wounded, in the first shooting. Sheriff Elmer Chatman of Wayne county was wounded in a later exchange of shots with Thompson and Tucker.

Several hundred police officers and special deputies had been seeking Thompson in the wooded hills of Bollinger, Wayne and Madison counties. He hid in abandoned farmhouses until Thursday night when he walked to Clubb, about 35 miles north of Popular Bluff.

Thompson spent the night in a house in Clubb. The owner, a minister, was away. Thompson shaved himself, stole clothing and yesterday offered Glover $5 to drive him to Popular Bluff.

Glover picked up two more

$10 BILLS SEIZED

CAIRO, Ill., March 18 (UPI)—Two Indiana men were arrested late last night and police found $90 in bogus $10 bills in their possession and about $4690 more in their automobile.

Chester Lee Mohler, 44 years old, Delphi, Ind., and Jack Carter, 34, Indianapolis, were seized after a liquor store operator became suspicious of the $10 bill the pair used to buy beer.

Police said some of the bills bore one serial number and the rest a different number, although most counterfeiters use only one serial number in their printing. Police listed the numbers as D 8010163B and D 86278642B.

AMERICAN ENVOYS
TO TAKE HOUSES
ALONG TO AFRICA

WASHINGTON, March 18 (UPI)—The United States has found a way to beat the housing shortage found by American officials in Africa. It will send its own prefabricated dwellings.

Government sources disclosed yesterday that U.S. builders soon would be asked to bid on rush orders to produce, deliver and erect 60 to 100 prefabricated houses for use as U.S. staff residences in 10 West African nations.

One official said the residences would be two, three and four-bedroom "western-style ramblers" with air-conditioning in the bedrooms.

One African diplomat, Ambassador Konan Bedie of the Ivory Coast, acknowledged there was a housing shortage and said he did not think Africans would be miffed if United States officials brought along their own houses.

"The people will understand," he said. "Our own houses, at least in appearance, are as good as those prefabricated houses."

3 Youths Flee After Victim's Auto Hits Pole — 2 Assaults in Second Incident.

George W. Pannell, 2240 West Big Bend road, Kirkwood, was forced to ride last night with three men, two of whom police believe later attempted to abduct a young man and woman. Pannell escaped when one of the men drove Pannell's automobile against a light standard in the 200 block of North Skinner boulevard. The young man and woman fought off their assailants.

Detectives arrested a suspect in connection with the abduction of Pannell. He denied any knowledge of the offense.

Pannell, an accountant, said a man with a revolver accosted him as he got into his automobile, which was parked in the 5700 block of Waterman boulevard, about 11 o'clock last night. The man opened the door on the driver's side, displayed a revolver and said, "Move over, I want your car," Pannell said. He then forced Pannell to lie on the floor in the back of the car.

2 More Get In

After driving a short distance, the man stopped the car and two men got into the rear of the auto, Pannell reported. A few minutes later, the car struck the light standard on North Skinner and the three abductors jumped out.

A passing taxicab driver, William Beach, 1214 Fairview avenue, saw the men running from the car and stopped to investigate. He found Pannell on the

U.S. WILL STEER
AN INDEPENDENT
COURSE ON U.N.
AFRICAN ISSUES

Notifies Western Colonial Allies of Decision as Assembly Prepares to Tackle Heavy Agenda.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—The United States has notified Western colonial allies it will steer an independent course on Africa as the United Nations General Assembly begins a new session with an agenda bristling with explosive African issues.

The position was spelled out in a statement last night explaining the Security Council vote in which the United States split with the Western Allies on Portugal's method of governing its African territory of Angola.

The United States delegation said the move had been made after high level consultation and indicated the Kennedy Administration would not hesitate to take a position at odds with an ally on other racial or colonial issues.

The United States announcement was certain to have a sharp impact on the 99-nation body confronted with such issues as South Africa's white supremacy policies, a U.N. report criticizing Belgian actions in Ruanda-Urundi and fresh demands for reforms in Portuguese Angola.

Asian-African nations were jubilant. They had welcomed this week's United States votes slapping Portugal on Angola and censuring South Africa for its policies in South West Africa but many were doubtful whether this signified a real change. Some diplomats wondered if United States chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson had acted on his own without White House sanction.

Francis W. Carpenter, United States delegation spokesman, in a formal statement last night, said the United States decision to vote for the Angola resolution was made only after Stevenson had consulted with State Department officials and after approval by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"The policy decisions behind the vote, which were all reflected in Gov. Stevenson's speech before the Security Council, had been carefully considered," Carpenter said.

"Our allies were informed in advance. We have a deep and continuing interest common with them. The difficulty and complexity of African questions are, however, such that there are and may continue to be differences in approach in some of them."

African Issues Dominant

The Assembly, stalled for two weeks while the big powers dickered over what to discuss, resumes session next week with African issues blanketing the agenda.

India is striving to get priority for the question of South Africa's race segregation policies when the Special Political Committee meets Monday. The main Political Committee expects to open Tuesday with a discussion of the United States plan for aid and education for the people of Africa.

Soviet Russia, meanwhile, has demanded immediate General Assembly debate on the Congo crisis. Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, Assembly president, probably will schedule a plenary session late next week.

The move for the Congo de-

UNMANNED SPACE
CAPSULE SENT UP
BY TEST ROCKET

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—An unmanned Mercury space capsule was sent aloft from Wallops Island, Va., today in an apparently successful test of the space program's escape and parachute launching systems.

The test, one of a series leading to manned space flight, was designed to give the space capsule and its auxiliary systems their toughest structural test yet. The capsule is made by McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis.

Complete results of the test will not be determined until radio and other technical data are analyzed, but officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the test appeared successful in every respect. A Little Joe rocket sent the capsule skyward.

The shot may be the last in the Mercury Astronaut program before a similar capsule carries a man on a 125-mile high, 200-mile long ballistic flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

That flight, tentatively scheduled for next month, will be one of a series designed to train astronauts for the much more ambitious attempt, perhaps late this year, to orbit two or three times around the earth.

TERRORISTS ON RAMPAGE;
PORTUGUESE TROOPS FLY
TO ANGOLA-CONGO BORDERANTI-WHITE CULT IN KIVU
SAID TO BE RUNNING WILD

Force of U.N. and Congo Troops to March Against Fanatics — Hundreds Reported in Pagan Band.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, March 18 (AP)—Hundreds of pagan fanatics are running wild through the Congo's Kivu province in a new terror campaign against white persons, the United Nations reported today.

A joint force of U.N. Malay troops and Congolese soldiers is preparing to set out from the U.N. base at Kindu on an attempt to end the outbreak of lawlessness.

A U.N. spokesman described the fanatics as a "terrorist group several hundred strong." They are concentrated around the Kivu town of Kasongo and are known as Kartelites.

According to reports brought back to Kindu by missionaries recently in Kasongo the Kartelites are armed with bows and arrows and wear a band of leopardskin around their heads. Their avowed intent is to "kill all whites," a U.N. spokesman told reporters. So far no reports of any killings by them have reached the U.N.

The spokesman said the Congolese population around Kasongo also was in fear of the fanatic terrorists and the authorities in rebel-held Kivu had agreed to help U.N. forces restore law and order to the area. They were providing troops for a joint police action to be launched as soon as possible from Kindu. Kasongo is nearly 200 miles from Kindu and it may take several days before the column can reach the town.

The U.N. spokesman said it was not known exactly how many white people still remained in Kasongo but there were thought to be about 30. In addition there may be others at outlying plantations and mission posts.

It was not known whether the Kartelites have any connection with the African cult of "Leopardmen," who kill their victims with steel claws imitative of a leopard's. They believe that by killing they gain superhuman strength.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, commander of the national Congo army, returned to Leopoldville today from his military base in Equator province.

TRUCK LOBBY
STIRS FLOOD OF
TAX PROTESTS

House Committee Members Get Many Letters as Result of 'Urgent Bulletin.'

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 18—A dramatic example of what President Kennedy called "important and powerful and well-organized interest group" opposition to his legislative program is the flood of letters to members of the House Ways and Means Committee, inspired by an "urgent bulletin" telegram sent out by the American Trucking Associations, Inc.

The truck lobby is fighting the Administration proposal to increase motor fuel and tire taxes to keep the federal highway program on schedule. Allied with the truckers are the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and many oil and gasoline dealers.

On March 8, the Trucking Associations headquarters sent to 70 to 80 large trucking companies a 350-word telegram beginning: "Urgent Bulletin. Please co-operate by relaying this entire message by system communication throughout your area to bring it to the attention of every truck operator you can reach."

'All-Out Battle'

The telegram said the A.T.A. executive committee was asking for "an all-out trucking industry battle" against the White House proposal which it said would add one cent a mile to present tax costs and would have wiped out profits before taxes of all Class I and Class II motor carriers if carried out last year.

The telegram suggested a message for immediate dissemination by company teletype circuit or private line to all employees and trucking firms in the area.

Then followed a list of the Ways and Means Committee members. The telegram ended: "If a Congressman from your state is on this committee, ad-

Cancels Hearings on Kennedy Appointments — Lost Fight on Jobless Aid.

© New York Times News Service
WASHINGTON, March 18—Following his defeat by President Kennedy on an amendment to the unemployment compensation bill Thursday night, Senator Harry F. Byrd canceled scheduled committee confirmation hearings yesterday on five of the President's nominees.

The Virginia Democrat, who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, left instructions with the committee staff to tell inquirers that the hearings had been canceled rather than postponed.

Byrd was not available for further explanation, but the inference was that he was preparing to tighten his position against the Administration in the wake of Thursday's bitter fight.

The nominations delayed by Senator Byrd's action were three appointments to the Treasury and two to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Details of Dispute.

The fight between the President and Byrd, an avowed opponent of most of the President's economic program, centered around provisions for financing the emergency unemployment compensation bill.

Byrd had held out for a system making each state responsible for paying full costs of benefits received by its workers. The President, contending that current unemployment should be treated as a national problem, demanded a system under which the hard-hit industrial states would draw more than they paid in taxes, while states with light unemployment would draw less.

In the showdown, Mr. Kennedy's influence proved greater than Byrd's but not by much of a margin. The vote was 44 to 42 in favor of the Kennedy position. This narrow victory was won only after an intensive 24 hours

Baronet's Wife to Hold Benefit
Sale of Clothes (Her Benefit)

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Lady Barwick is going to open her stately home to the public next week to peddle some of her own clothes.

"The sale is for charity," she said. "My own charity. They are my things, and I want the money for them."

Talking rapidly she said: "If I make a lot of money, I may make one or two donations to good causes."

Lady Barwick is the former Valerie Ward, onetime starlet in British movies. She was married to the third baronet, Sir Richard, in 1948.

Sir Richard appeared to be startled and not pleased by the proposed rummage sale in his home, Thimbleby Hall, in York-shire.

"I shall certainly not help my wife take the money," he told reporters. "In fact, I shall make sure that I'm not at home for the sale."

The sale will take place next Wednesday.

MAU-MAU STYLE
KILLERS HACKING
WHITES TO DEATH
IN JUNGLE AREAS

Men, Women, Children

Attacked on Plantations—Terrified Settlers Being Airlifted to Safety.

LUANDA, Angola, March 18 (AP)—Portuguese troops have been flown northward to the Angola-Congo border area, where tribal terrorists have been hacking to death and mutilating any whites they find on remote Angola plantations. At least 30 persons, planters and their families, were reported killed.

Portuguese colonial rulers here turned to armed might in hopes of ending the Mau Mau style killing. The same planes that rushed in troops brought back terrified settlers.

Faced with the prospect of growing Congo-like massacres, colonial authorities here in the capital said today they are confident they can put down the bloody anti-white uprising despite the hindrance of torrential rain.

Negroes swinging machetes have killed and hacked up countless men, women and children in the last three days.

25 Reported Killed at Once.

One report said 28 persons were murdered at a big coffee plantation near Quixote, less than 150 miles northeast of this coastal city. A young girl was reported cut in two near Vieja. One mutilated settler died after being evacuated here.

(This dispatch, passed through censorship, did not mention any outsiders among the attackers. Portuguese news agency dispatches received in Lisbon said the terrorists were "foreigners" or came from The Congo across the border. Some of these reports said Negroes and whites alike were attacked.)

(The Portuguese Overseas Department issued the following statement in Lisbon, United Press International reported: "At dawn Wednesday and during the following night, terrorist bands from The Congo attacked Europeans living near the northern Angola border, slaying men, women and children, Europeans and Africans.")

Soldiers and paratroopers rushed to the north faced the job of flushing the raiders from hiding places in dense forests. Africans who work the plantations and belong to central African tribes were reportedly quiet while the northern tribesmen attacked homes and sabotaged roads and bridges.

Commercial airliners touched down at Luanda airfield in a huge refugee airlift. Fleeing settlers crammed truck after truck for the ride into Luanda, where they told how Negroes hacked to death every white person they saw.

Hundreds of Attackers.
The raids were similar to the Mau Mau attacks that plagued British-ruled Kenya a few years ago. Hundreds of tribesmen descended suddenly during early morning darkness Wednesday, slashing and murdering with their long knives in planters' homes near Maquela, Uige, Quibayi and Quixote.

Some of the refugees bore the wounds of machetes and many flew here without a single possession. Nine badly mutilated persons came in on the first planes Wednesday night. One of them died after arriving.

Some settlers are descended from the first Portuguese who came to West Africa a year before Columbus discovered America. In the 470 years since, the whites in Angola have increased to 150,000 and they live among 4,500,000 largely illiterate native Bantus (blacks), a ratio of 30-1.

(Portugal has been trying to keep the tide of African nationalism away from Angola's door. Africans there have been told little about democracy as they

$21,615 SPENT BY HOLLORAN IN UNSUCCESSFUL RACE FOR MAYOR

$8110 in Contributions Listed in Report to Recorder of Deeds—Thus Deficit Is $13,505.

Mark R. Holloran and his campaign committee reported yesterday a deficit of $13,505 in his unsuccessful campaign for Democratic nomination for Mayor at the March 7 primary election.

Statements filed with Recorder of Deeds Anthony J. Denny listed expenditures of $21,615 and contributions of only $8110.

Holloran, Democratic national committeeman from Missouri, in a personal report listed expense totaling $13,019 and receipts of $7510.

His committee reported expenditures of $5596, mostly printing and distribution of literature, and receipts of $600.

Primary candidates for Mayor are not required by law to file expense reports. The Holloran committee said the report was filed "in order that the public be fully informed."

Some of Expenses.

Expenditures included the following: Filing fee, $500; canvassing costs in the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, Sixty-first, Sixty-second, Sixty-third, Sixty-fourth, Sixty-fifth, Sixty-sixth, Sixty-seventh, Sixty-eighth, Sixty-ninth, Seventieth, Seventy-first, Seventy-second, Seventy-third, Seventy-fourth, Seventy-fifth, Seventy-sixth, Seventy-seventh, Seventy-eighth, Seventy-ninth, Eightieth, Eighty-first, Eighty-second, Eighty-third, Eighty-fourth, Eighty-fifth, Eighty-sixth, Eighty-seventh, Eighty-eighth, Eighty-ninth, Ninetieth, Ninety-first, Ninety-second, Ninety-third, Ninety-fourth, Ninety-fifth, Ninety-sixth, Ninety-seventh, Ninety-eighth, Ninety-ninth, One hundredth.

Largest election day expenditure was $1043 in the Nineteenth ward and the second largest was $920 in the Eighteenth.

Twenty-nine contributors to Holloran's campaign were listed. Contributions included the following: Pipefitters Union Local 562, $2500; Thomas J. Guilfoill, Holloran's campaign manager, $1000; G. J. Nooney, campaign treasurer, $1050; State Senator William E. Hilsman, $750; Earl J. Gates and Joseph Holloran, $500 each; Meatcutters Local 88, Painters District Council 2, Louis A. Lange and Fred Schmidt Jr., $200 each, and Thomas C. Hennings Sr., $100.

Holloran's report listed also a $5000 note executed by Holloran and Guilfoill, the proceeds of which were made available to the campaign as a loan.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, in a report of his personal campaign expenses for renomination, listed an outlay of $522, consisting of his $500 filing fee and $22 postage.

Final Official Count.

Final official returns at the Board of Election Commissioners showed today that Mayor Tucker defeated Holloran by 1290 votes in the primary.

Mayor Tucker received 39,956 votes, of which 258 were absentee ballots. Holloran received 38,666, of which 197 were absentee ballots. Unofficial returns had given Mayor Tucker a margin of 1272.

Ben H. Lindenbusch, unopposed Republican candidate for mayor, received 8075 votes, of which 25 were absentee ballots.

INCOME TAX EVADER GETS 6 MONTHS, IS FINED $4000

Elmer C. Tanzberger, Oakville truck farmer, was sentenced yesterday to six months in prison and was fined $4000 for income tax evasion. He was sentenced by United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber.

Tanzberger pleaded guilty Feb. 27 of evading more than $4000 in income taxes from 1954 through 1957. The sentence and fine imposed yesterday were based on tax evasions in 1954. Sentence was suspended on evasions in the three other years, but he was placed on probation for three years.

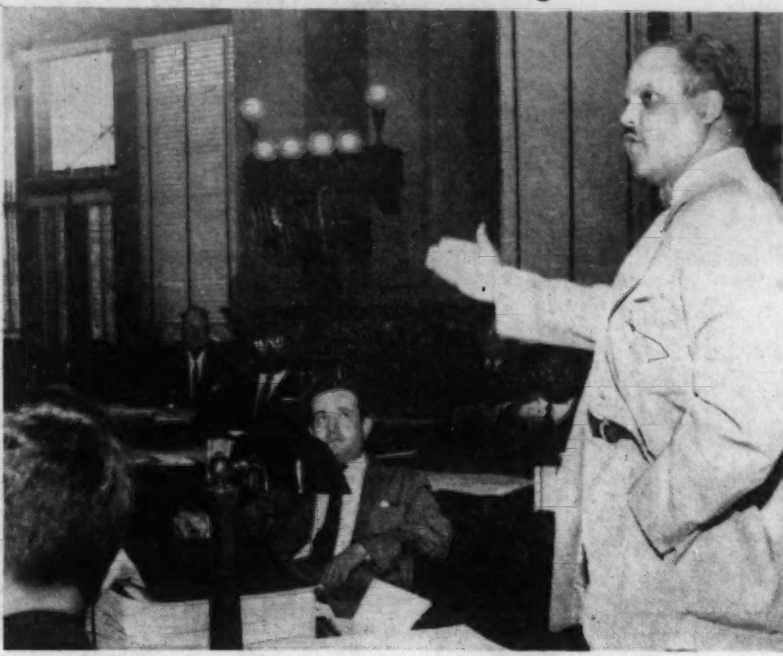

In recent years, Tanzberger has subdivided some of his farm. He reported an adjusted gross income of $6446 and $321 due in taxes for the four years. The Internal Revenue Service said his gross income was $29,006 and he owed $4365 in taxes for the period.

ROBBERS BOARDUP 3 IN WASHROOM IN TAVERN HOLDUP

Two customers and the operator of Kaz and Mary's Tavern, 2901 North Jefferson avenue, were boarded up by two armed men who fled with $401 yesterday, police said.

Kaz Anzulovich, 70 years old, operator of the tavern, told police the two men, both about 30, drew revolvers and announced a holdup shortly after entering the bar about 1:15 p.m. The men ordered Anzulovich to give up the contents of the cash register, and took $1 from two customers, Mr. and Mrs. William Carlyle, 9818 Zykan drive, Overland. A third customer, Wallace Eismann, 55, is crippled and was not molested.

The holdup men then ordered the Carlyles and Anzulovich into a washroom and nailed a board across the door. The board and tools were apparently taken in by the men, Anzulovich said. The victims released themselves by kicking out a door panel in time to see the holdup men drive off in an old automobile from the rear of the tavern.

FUNERAL TO BE MONDAY FOR MRS. ALVINE LINDE

Funeral services for Mrs. Alvine Linde, wife of the late Albert F. Linde, St. Louis produce dealer, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Webster Hills Methodist Church, 698 W. Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery.

Mrs. Linde, who was 83 years old, died of a stroke Thursday at her home, 8936 Big Bend boulevard, Webster Groves. She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Arch R. King of St. Louis and Mrs. Wilbur B. Pritchard of Ballwin; a son, John M. Linde of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Miller and Mrs. William A. Schwalbert, both of St. Louis, and a brother, Harry M. Smith, of St. Louis.

MOTHER OF FOUR REPORTS BEING ATTACKED IN HOME

A south St. Louis housewife and mother of four children was raped and robbed shortly before noon yesterday by a man who forced his way into her home, she reported to police.

The woman, who is expecting her fifth child shortly, said the man pushed the door open when her young son answered a knock. After forcing three of her children into a bedroom, the man attacked her and took about $2 in change, she said. A fourth child, was at school.

She described the man as about 30 to 35 years old and wearing a red hunting cap, light gray trousers and brown suede jacket.

WIFE IS FATALLY STRICKEN AT NATHAN BURGESS BURIAL

Mrs. Nathan Burgess, 68 years old, suffered a fatal cerebral hemorrhage yesterday when attending burial services for her husband at Chesed Shel Emeth Cemetery. She died at Jewish Hospital.

Her husband died of a heart disease Wednesday at Jewish Hospital. He was 72 years old. The Burgess lived at 847 Westgate avenue, University City. Mr. Burgess formerly operated a grocery for many years at 2900 Lucas avenue.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Al Eastman; a sister of Mr. Burgess, Mrs. Abe Gornick, and a sister of Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Sarah Klibansky.

EISENHOWER VACATION

LA PAZ, Baja California, Mexico, March 18 (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and several friends who have been deep sea fishing expect to return this weekend to Palm Springs, Calif.

Eisenhower and his party planned to be back at his El Dorado Country Club vacation retreat by Monday. Mrs. Eisenhower was expected to return March 20 from Elizabeth Arden's Maine Chance resort, at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Building Code

safety. Members of the building and insurance industries said the code provided adequate safeguards and the proposed changes would increase costs of building.

There was less debate on the bill than on some of the amendments offered to it.

Harris said the code will lower fire resistance by two hours. He charged that the bill had been stamped through the board and that most of the aldermen did not understand its contents.

"In good conscience, I cannot vote for it," he said. "I class this as a fraud on the people because 28 aldermen could not in four months study this matter."

Speaking in favor of the measure, Alderman Joseph B. McDonald (Rep.), Twenty-fifth ward, said the board had ample time to determine whether the code provided proper safety standards. If anyone thought the code lacked such safeguards, he should have said so months ago, McDonald said.

Packed Chamber.

The gallery of the board's chamber was filled and many spectators were standing as the bill was brought to the floor.

An early move by Alderman Archie Blaine (Dem.), Sixth ward, to have the aldermen vote on the bill without acting on any of the proposed amendments was ruled out of order by President A. J. Cervantes.

A series of technical amendments concerning the administration of the code then was passed.

Most of them were designed to give the Director of Public Safety final authority over administration of the code. As written, the bill gave that authority to the building commissioner.

The first amendment, adopted without discussion by a vote of 23 to 5, would make the bill effective May 1.

Some aldermen said the amendments would make the Public Safety Director a czar. Alderman Wayman F. Smith Jr. (Dem.), Eighteenth ward, said the director would become "the most powerful man in City Hall."

Alderman James E. Geisler (Dem.), Tenth ward, denied there was any such danger inherent in the amendments.

Applause From Spectators.

At one point in the debate, spectators in the gallery began to applaud. Cervantes turned in their direction and asked that they refrain from demonstrations.

After the administrative amendments were completed, the aldermen approved an amendment requiring that licenses be issued to stationary engineers holding licenses under the present code, without new examinations. The vote was 16 to 12.

The aldermen adopted an amendment prepared by the steamfitters union which gives the steamfitters jurisdiction to connect piping to sanitary sewers in some instances. The code as drawn gave the jurisdiction to the plumbers.

The last three amendments were defeated before a final vote was taken on the amended bill. One amendment governing the installation of sprinklers lost by a vote of 12 to 16.

Another amendment would have provided that all equipment must be kept clean and that all insulation should be outside of heating and ventilating ducts. It lost, 9 to 18. The last

BOY, 15, SHOT FLEEING FROM STOLEN AUTO

Officers Who Pursued Machine Tell of Occupants Leaping From Car.

A 15-year-old boy was shot in the thigh last night by a police officer as the boy fled from a stolen automobile which officers had been pursuing.

Patrolman Joseph Harr and Probationary Patrolman Glenn Lodi of the mobile reserve unit reported that they saw a stolen car being driven west in Page boulevard at Marcus avenue. The machine had been stolen last Wednesday in the 1300 block of Hodiarn avenue and a description of it was on a list of stolen cars which police carry.

The officers pursued the car to the 1400 block of North Euclid avenue, where, the officers reported, it slowed and all four doors were opened. The officers saw occupants leap out of each door and run in different directions.

Harr fired a shot in the air with a riot gun, but the suspects continued running, the officers reported. Lodi then fired two revolver shots at one of them. He fell to the ground, but got up and continued running, escaping.

"The driverless car, still moving, struck a parked car and continued down the street. Harr sprinted after it and jumped inside. After stopping it, he found a 16-year-old boy seated inside. He gave the officers the names of two of the youths who had been in the car.

About one hour later, a 15-year-old boy appeared at Homer G. Phillips Hospital seeking treatment for a gunshot wound of the thigh. Officers questioned him and he admitted being the driver of the car they had pursued.

Mrs. Harry G. Moore, wife of a physician, reported that she was robbed of about $800 last night in the driveway of her home at 17 Westmoreland place.

Mrs. Moore said that as she drove her automobile into the driveway she saw two men drive up in a car and stop a short distance west of the Moore home. As she reached into the rear seat to get some packages, she said, a man walked up behind her, pushed her aside, grabbed her purse from the seat and ran back to the west car. The driver sped west in Westmoreland to Lake avenue, she said.

Earl Perry, 15-year-old employee of a liquor store at 3900 West Florissant avenue, reported that he was robbed of $873 last night by a man who accosted him in the 3700 block of West Florissant. Perry said he was en route from a bank to the liquor store with the money when the man pointed a large knife at him and took the money.

John Wilson, 1811 South Fourteenth street, fought off three men who attempted to rob him early today in the 1000 block of South Eighteenth street, police said. Wilson reported that one of the men knocked him down and attempted to take his wallet. He reported that he leaped up.

Pacifist Group on Cross-Country Walk Pickets McDonnell Plant

Cites Dangers of Massive Retaliation Strategy — Members Speak at Washington U.

Members of a pacifist group on a transcontinental "Walk for Peace" picketed the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. plant today.

St. Louis county police were advised of the demonstration. The pacifists, sponsored by the Committee for Nonviolent Action, have announced plans to picket plants of manufacturers of missiles and other weapons of war.

The group of 18 persons visited Washington University yesterday and was to proceed toward Springfield, Ill., today.

Led by John Beecher, 57-year-old former teacher at the Arizona State University, the group started with eight members in San Francisco last Dec. 1 and began traveling east. From New York they plan to take a plane to Europe, with Moscow their ultimate destination. A white hearse and an automobile accompany the marchers who, with the exception of one man, occasionally ride in the vehicles.

Addresses 300 Students.

"We are advocates of non-violent resistance as a means of preserving peace in the present cold war," Gerald Lehmann, 24-year-old Quaker of Mokena, Ill., told about 300 university students assembled in the main quadrangle.

"Present policies of the great powers, including the United States, will lead to a thermonuclear war that will end with the extinction of the human race," he said. "We want governments to renounce preventive war and massive retaliation, and we believe in unilateral disarmament."

During a 30-minute question period, a student wanted to know who was financing the crusade. Lehmann answered that it was financed "largely by faith."

"We get some donations and some revenue from our publication," he said. "We often get lodgings for the night in church basements and jails."

Other questions from Washington University students indicated considerable skepticism, but Beecher was applauded when he called for a transmutation of the arms race into an international competition to improve the lot of mankind.

Not in Middle Ages.

"We are not living in the Middle Ages when wars were fought by knights in armor," he said. "This is a pushbutton age when a miscalculation can result in mass extermination."

The group now consists of 10 men and eight women, most of whom are young. Two of the eight persons who started from San Francisco have dropped out, but others have joined en route.

Each of the 18 members introduced himself and "testified" to his reasons for joining the effort.

Miss Millie Gilbertsen, former student at Washington University's School of Fine Arts and now a commercial artist in Edgewater, N.J., summed it up with these words:

"When it (World War III) happens, I want to be in the camp of those who can say: 'Well, I tried.'"

One of the officers in the car, Sgt. Atkins Warren, recognized the man as a former convict he had arrested on a previous occasion. The man escaped from the officers, but they went to his home, where they arrested him. The man denied the charge.

Mike Nastu, 64-year-old watchman, 1752 Mississippi avenue, was knocked to the pavement, beaten and robbed of $2 by two men in the 1400 block of Mississippi last night. He was taken to City Hospital for treatment of a head injury.

Ronald Hirbe, an employee of Scruggs, Vandervoort, Barney department store, gave three robbers a package of vitamins yesterday when he was accosted on a parking lot at the rear of the department store's warehouse at 5240 Oakland avenue. A man struck Hirbe and said, "Give me the package." Hirbe handed over a package of vitamins. The men fled in a car.

MAN IS KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR ON ARSENAL

Motorist Says Traffic Signal at Hampton Intersection Was in His Favor.

Anthony Belfiore, 5617 Pernod avenue, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile at Arsenal street and Hampton avenue. He was 38 years old.

Driver of the car said he was John J. Grundel, 19, a clerk, 3229 Childress avenue, police reported. Grundel said he was driving west in Arsenal at Hampton with a traffic signal in his favor and was unable to stop in time to avoid striking Belfiore.

Grundel said he was traveling about 30 miles an hour.

An unidentified man was found dead today in an automobile which had struck the rear of a parked car in front of 4634 Delmar boulevard. Papers in his possession listed an address in the 600 block of Hamilton avenue.

Police said the man, about 55 years old, had slumped over on the front seat. The only apparent injury was a scratch on the bridge of his nose, police said.

Dan Moody, 2735 Gamble street, died last night at City Hospital of injuries suffered last Tuesday when an automobile he was driving struck a parked car at Nineteenth street and Delmar boulevard.

Moody, 64, was driving west in Delmar when he appeared to faint, his niece, Mrs. Cleo Davis, who was a passenger in the car, said. An autopsy disclosed that he died of a skull fracture.

Funeral services for Earl W. Godbold Jr., a general partner of Dempsey-Tegeler & Co., will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Kurrus undertaking establishment, 2525 State street, East St. Louis.

Mr. Godbold, 56 years old, died of a liver ailment yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. Mr. Godbold lived at 300 East Park drive, Belleville. He was head of Dempsey-Tegeler's municipal bond department.

He was a past president of the Round Table Club. Mr. Godbold was a Mason and a graduate

Dissent From the Lead Belt

I am writing you in regard to Dickson Terry's recent article, "Hard Times Hit Lead Belt Area."

I was born and reared in a prosperous town, Poplar Bluff. I came to the Lead Belt because I like the Lead Belt and the future I feel it offers. I'm young, 26, and looking forward to the area in which I live becoming a better place.

I'll agree, times surely could be more prosperous in this area. I'm sure hoping, as everyone else, that a financial shot in the arm will arrive in the form of a new industry. However, you have heard the old saying, "When you're down, everyone likes to kick you." Well, I think Mr. Terry did just that.

Mr. Terry remarked about the parking lot at the edge of town used by local men employed in St. Louis. When I came to the Lead Belt the price of lead was at about a record high. I believe almost as many men were employed in St. Louis then as now. The real reason for men employed in St. Louis and living here is obvious; the cost of living in St. Louis is outrageous.

He remarked about our only dairy going out of business. The truth is it merged with a Rolla firm to give the community a bigger variety of dairy products.

He mentioned Bonne Terre's only theater closing. Any person in his right mind knows theaters all over the nation, not just Bonne Terre, have been closing for the past several years. The movie industry itself attributes this to television. He mentioned our only Kroger market closing after 40 years. He failed to go further and mention that the same supermarket was opened the Monday after Kroger pulled out by a different firm and is doing more business than before.

Mr. Terry told of the many things Bonne Terre didn't have but he failed to mention just a few things we do have. Just in the past year Bonne Terre voted bond issues for construction of a new high school gymnasium, for a new $50,000 swimming pool and for a new complete city sewage system.

All are improvements few cities of comparable size can boast. We also have an all-new Bonne Terre Federal Savings & Loan building, a newly remodeled bank building and parking lot, a new Southwestern Bell Telephone building and a new office building in construction in the heart of the business district.

A Real Champ

Floyd Patterson's refusal to give Sonny Liston a crack at the heavyweight title because of parties with whom he associates best typifies this young man's desire to do what he believes is right and in the best interests of boxing.

Patterson is literally throwing away $1,000,000, his share of a Patterson-Liston title match, by flatly refusing to meet Liston because of the company he keeps.

Champions are few and far between. Need I say more about Floyd Patterson?

Federal Help Not Needed

Federal aid to education is not needed. The solution is for the Federal Government to give back to local government those areas of taxation which it now pre-empt.

If the Federal Government gives money for school aid it will have to set up additional bureaus to handle the payments, thus much will be lost to administrative costs, while the local governments are set to handle the matter now.

The local school boards are also going to have to learn to spend the tax money they get for what it was intended, education. The last two towns in which I have resided have built new schools or additions to old.

In each case a large gymnasium was built at the expense of classroom space. In one case classrooms have had to be added and in the other were badly needed but not built. Frederick Oseolton

Praise for Col. Blasse

I believe a word of praise is due Nicholas Blasse of the meatcutters union for having courage enough to make a formal complaint against Sunday operation of retail establishments.

The merchants and people of St. Louis have for many years set aside one day a week for the Almighty. I believe it is a shame that the people of our fine city permit these outstate business interests to turn Sunday into just another day of the week.

Conceded

The Farm Message

President Kennedy's answer to the farm problem is an admission that there is no single answer. Instead of providing a panacea he has left the solution largely up to the farmers. He has advocated a commodity-by-commodity rather than an overall approach. Whether it will work probably cannot be determined until it is tried, but the tenor of the President's message to Congress does not suggest the likelihood of the tough federal production controls that many experts have thought necessary to end the accumulation of costly surpluses.

Mr. Kennedy has placed greater emphasis on increasing consumption than on reducing production. The extent to which consumption can be increased is limited, although no one would argue with the theory that the great productive power of American agriculture should be used for the benefit of the nation and the world. But exports are limited by fears of disrupting international markets through "dumping." And unless new uses are found for agricultural products the domestic market cannot absorb full agricultural production.

Mr. Kennedy expressed the general concern "that our farm program is drifting into a chaotic state, piling up surpluses, penalizing efficiency, rewarding inertia and noncompliance, and constantly being torn and weakened by disputes and conflicting pressures." Except for the fact that the President might have said the program has long since drifted into chaos, this is hardly subject to dispute. Nor will many be disposed to quarrel with the reasons Mr. Kennedy adduces for conditions as they exist today.

But despite 5000 words and numerous proposals for legislative executive action the message contains a defeatist note. Mr. Kennedy said the nation cannot expect to solve the farm problem "in a day or a year, or perhaps even in this administration," which may be true enough but which still does not offer taxpayers much hope of relief from the burden of carrying a multi-billion-dollar commodity surplus.

The President seems to have conceded that the controls needed to shut off the surplus quickly will be extremely difficult to attain. He suggests that the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 should be amended to permit supply adjustment through marketing quotas. But he qualifies this by saying that this should apply where "quotas might be most effective in achieving our goals, and subject to affirmative approval by producers and acceptance of the Congress." He suggests that quotas should be authorized either in quantitative terms (which would discourage farmers from trying to produce too much on a given acreage) or in terms of acreage allotments (the ineffective system now in use). He emphasizes "proper safeguards," which is no more than prudent.

In view of the fact that the major farm organizations have been unable to agree on a program, this may be the strongest set of proposals that is politically practical. But consumers and taxpayers have a growing interest in farm problems and the least that the Administration can do is to see that when farmers participate in working out their own programs, as proposed in the message, representatives of these groups have a chance to be heard. Everyone wants to raise farm income, but not at too great a cost to the consumer or taxpayer.

Atlanta and Miami West

The last gap in major airline service within the United States has been closed by the Civil Aeronautics Board award of coast-to-coast southern routes to National Airlines and Delta Air Lines.

The CAB, which instituted proceedings in 1958, has provided what should be an end to a 10-year-old controversy in which eight major airlines have participated. Air travel within the southern tier of states from Georgia and Florida to California now should be much more convenient and speedier. There will be better service for San Francisco, Los Angeles, Miami and Atlanta, and for these intermediate cities: New Orleans, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, El Paso, San Antonio, Phoenix, Tucson, Las Vegas, and San Diego. Major benefit will be for passengers between Atlanta or Miami and the West Coast.

In the past the CAB had a policy of not awarding outright transcontinental routes to single carriers in the southern states. Interchange agreements between carriers were unsatisfactory at best. Now there will be no need to take circuitous routes, change planes or make frequent stops. There is solace for some of the lines which lost out. American, Eastern and Continental, in separate rulings, received various regional routes which should increase their revenues.

The southern states now have commercial air service commensurate with their needs and the several carriers concerned have been strengthened.

Planes Hunting for Tornadoes

If as much can be learned about the how and why of tornadoes as has been learned about hurricanes, the new National Severe Storms Project, in which Missouri is a key sector, will be a useful venture. The scale on which the Weather Bureau and other assisting federal agencies have begun operations indicates an intensive effort is to be made from the headquarters at Oklahoma City.

The exact cause of the tornadoes which rip through the southern and Central Plains states is a mystery. Whereas the much slower hurricanes take days to whirl their way from the Caribbean up the Atlantic coast, tornadoes spawn and strike in minutes or hours at most. It is known that tornadoes begin when warm, moist air masses from the Gulf of Mexico collide with cool, dry masses. But the action producing a twister is so sudden and the area of violence so localized that it has been impossible for experts to be near enough to obtain anything like the data collected by planes checking on hurricanes.

The project's fleet of special planes is equipped with ultra modern apparatus that should make it possible to record all weather data and to work in conjunction with a network of ground stations. Some plane may soon dog a twister at its worst. The men who fly in these planes deserve a salute. Even a line squall is dangerous. Circling the vicinity of a tornado will be far more so.

If the project can acquire sufficient knowledge about the conditions that breed and guide violent wind storms, more accurate forecasting should result with ensuing greater safety in the South and Midwest.

Better Than a Miracle

The British Commonwealth is more united—and stronger—now that Prime Minister Verwoerd, irritated by the condemnation of segregation, has renounced South Africa's membership. It may be less a miracle, but it is more a political reality.

This loose association of Great Britain and former British possessions recently was described by London's Sunday Telegraph as "a kind of miracle, in the aura of which to talk about drawing up rules and ordering expulsions ought to seem frivolous, even profane." The paper went on to say that membership "rights conferred by the muse of history are not extinguishable even by a two-thirds majority."

The muse of history, happily, disappointed the writer. When the Commonwealth prime ministers, except Verwoerd, insisted on condemning apartheid even though they did not expel South Africa, he announced that his government would quit the association. Perhaps he saw the handwriting on the wall. His racist policy had been almost as angrily denounced at last May's meeting of the prime ministers. And the latest condemnation in London was followed by a 74-to-0 rebuke by the United Nations Assembly of South Africa's effort to extend its segregationist rule over South West Africa. For those unwilling to bow to unanimous censure, there hardly is a course open other than that of moral isolation.

As for the Commonwealth, diverse as it may be—some of its members are white, others are black, and still others are brown; some acknowledge the sovereignty of Elizabeth II and others are republics; some are members of the Western alliance and others are neutralist; some are old and wise and others are new and inexperienced—it has shown that it does have a common standard of multi-racial humanity. It is much more than a nondescript catch-all.

Having asserted his defiance, the South African however lost little time before saying that withdrawal would not affect South Africa's benefits under the Commonwealth preferential trade agreement, and that membership in the sterling bloc was not contingent on membership in the Commonwealth. Macmillan, who himself denounced apartheid while in Africa, responded as perhaps a diplomat must, saying that Britain "intends to cooperate fully in matters of common interest."

No doubt this was dictated by strategic considerations. It was wise, too, in view of the considerable opposition in South Africa to Verwoerd's government. It is not beyond possibility that someday the South African government and the South African policy may be changed. Meanwhile, South Africa is wrong, the Commonwealth is right, and the world is cleaner for the stand the prime ministers took in London.

Laws That Need Revising

The Administration and Congress should move during the present session to clarify and bring up to date what the Senate Subcommittee on National Policy Machinery calls the "disjointed, overlapping and ambiguous" conflict-of-interest laws. These are properly intended to prevent a Government employee from profiting by his Government connection; yet they have often had the effect of preventing the Government from obtaining the services of capable men.

Under the present laws defense officials have been forced to divest themselves of millions of dollars worth of securities, lawyers have had to abandon ties with their firms and retired military men have had to forego jobs in which their expert knowledge would be valuable. It is unfair to exact a penalty for federal service; on the other hand, it is not sound policy to jeopardize the public interest. Devising equitable and practical standards is difficult.

President Kennedy is expected to send a message to Congress on the subject soon, but it is not known whether he will recommend specific legislation. This is a peacetime problem, since in war it is automatically subordinate to the safety of the nation. But the Government at all times should be able to enlist the services of the best men available, without calling on them for financial sacrifices not exacted of others.

When Titans Are Obsolete

Military weapons have to be disposed of when they become obsolete. The sword-and-plowshares method worked well for many years, and small countries sometimes bought not only rifles and cannon but out-of-style battlefields and rusty tanks. Now the vexing question of what to do with giant ballistic missiles when they become obsolete is being bandied about.

A few liquid-fueled monsters stand 12 stories high on launching pads. Their 100-ton big brothers are to go in underground "silos" 50 feet in diameter. Before all these Atlases and Titans are nested, the second generation missiles are scheduled to be in production. Using solid fuel, smaller and far less complicated, they will go on railroad cars and in smaller silos.

When the Atlas and Titan are pronounced obsolete, where will they go? Some missile makers have said they could be shot up with a nose cone full of fluorescent powder to be ejected in the shape of advertising slogans. The message of these special billboards would glint in the stratosphere for centuries. That might discourage space travelers from ever blasting off for a vacation among the satellites.

Other missile makers have talked of using any decrepit rockets for super displays of Fourth of July fireworks, asserting that pyrotechnics set off 250 miles over Kansas could be seen from both New York and Los Angeles. Or the $3,000,000 shells might be used individually for lighthouses or strung together for subway liners. The old silos could be filled with surplus wheat and potatoes.

As a last resort, perhaps the gleaming carcasses could be set up in front of court-houses, just as World War I cannon used to be, with some inscription calling attention to the cost of living in a world that thus far has not been able to outlaw war.

Boxcars on Concrete

Big Trucks Ought to Be Taxed More to Support Pay-as-You-Go Highway Program

An Editorial in the Cincinnati Post and Times-Star

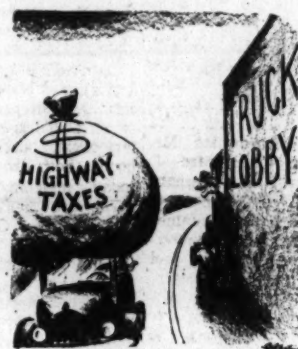

President Kennedy's idea of how to pay for completing the interstate highway system is eminently sound on two special points:

He wants to pay for the roads as they are built—instead of borrowing. Borrowing merely pushes the cost off on future generations. And raises the price, since all debt bears interest.

He wants the big boxcar-type trucks to pay their fair share. They are among the chief beneficiaries of the new highways, and nearly all hands agree the passenger car motorist already is paying more than his share.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

As far as possible, the people who use the roads ought to pay for them. The next generation will have to pay for its own roads. Why should it pay for ours, too? The big trucks save fuel, time and expense because of the new highways, so why shouldn't they contribute to their own economy? Moreover, every engineering study

—Post-Dispatch, Oct. 8, 1951.
"You Get the Load and I'll Take the Haul."

ever made shows the damage big trucks do to highways is many times the wear-and-tear caused by passenger cars.

The President's proposals already have been labeled by the truckers as a "severe disappointment." They want the new highways, but they are less than anxious, or even willing, to pay their proper share of the cost. And their lobby will be busy blocking the President's plan.

But if the highway program isn't adequately financed, it won't be built. And if it isn't built, the big truckers won't get the benefits. So their opposition to Mr. Kennedy's tax plans could, in the end, deprive them of the gains the new highways would provide.

We think it is no more than fair to say that if the big truckers—who also are angling for laws to permit still bigger boxcars on the roads—don't want to pay their proper share, then they should get off the public highways and provide their own thoroughfares, as the railroads had to do.

Most motorists wouldn't mind paying more taxes if they didn't have to contend with massive trucks and speeding busses.

Even with the Kennedy tax program in effect, the President said, the heavy trucks would not be paying their full share. They had better settle for this, or else some day the motorists are going to get so fed up with these monster Congress and the states will be forced to slap them not only with stiffer taxes, but with severe weight and size restrictions.

The Man Behind Grundyism From The Washington Post

The last time that the name of Joseph Ridgeway Grundy was mentioned on this page, as far as we can determine, was in July, 1948. Even then it was an incidental and very largely accidental mention. The late Alben Barkley in his keynote speech to the Democratic National Convention at Philadelphia plunged into eloquent indictment of "Grundyism." Mr. Barkley went as far as to recite what must have seemed to many a slightly blasphemous parody of the well known hymn by Charles Wesley.

All hail the pow'r of Grundy's name! Let Republicans prostrate fall! Bring forth the royal diadem And crown him Lord of all!

It was almost as though Mr. Barkley had chosen to attack Roscoe Conkling or James G. Blaine or Uncle Joe Cannon. For when Mr. Barkley spoke, Joe Grundy was already 85 years old and had long ceased to be an influential factor in national politics or even in his own state of Pennsylvania.

Yet it is also easy to understand why he might have remained the favorite bete noire of old-fashioned Democrats of Mr. Barkley's own generation. To them Grundyism meant government of, for and indirectly by big business. It meant high protective tariffs, high prices and as many other favors to industry, especially the manufacturing industry, by the Federal Government as a sometimes too tolerant public opinion would permit.

But the heyday of Grundyism was the early 1920s. This was also the heyday of the influence of the late Senator Boies Penrose, probably the only Republican politician of consequence who really saw eye-to-eye with Mr. Grundy on all important national questions. Together they engineered the shift of the vote of the Pennsylvania delegation at the Republican National Convention at Chicago in 1920 to Warren Harding, thus assuring him of nomination and election. Mr. Grundy's reward was the Smoot-Hawley tariff, and almost complete control of the Republican machine after the death of Senator Penrose in 1921. In 1929, after the United States Senate had balked at seating William S. Vare, it was an easy matter for Mr. Grundy to get himself appointed to the place.

His star, however, went into rapid and profound decline with the great depression of the 1930s. All that he represented went into sudden disrepute. The big business leader abruptly ceased to be the characteristic hero of the twentieth century America. By almost everybody except Mr. Barkley Joe Grundy was soon forgotten—and it was doubtless a great surprise to many to learn that he had lived on and on in obscurity until he was only two years short of having completed a full century of life upon this earth.

A CHALLENGE

Vance Packard in the National Education Association Journal.

Our central problem is this: We must learn to live with abundance without being forced to impoverish our spirits. In solving this problem educators face a special challenge. They must help inoculate the current and the coming generations against the virus of materialism and help society achieve a balance between producers of goods and producers of service.

Between Book Ends Some Grizzly Facts

NOTORIOUS GRIZZLY BEARS, by W. P. Hubbard. (Sage Books, 205 pgs., $4.)

Perhaps the most legendary animal on the North American continent is the grizzly bear and yet, he is not too well known. Only a few authentic books and articles have been written about old Bruin and not too many photographs have been taken of him in his native state. There has been considerable fiction written about grizzly bears, but very little reliable information which accurately describes their true character and habits.

The author seeks to rectify these misinterpretations. He is well qualified to do so as he has spent a lifetime in personal observation and in gathering data about the animal.

It is interesting to note the author's statements that grizzlies mate only every second or third year; that on the average the grizzly has only two cubs to a litter; that adult grizzlies do not stay together for any great length of time, preferring to travel alone.

The author states that the grizzly usually remains in the territory of his birth during his life span of from 10 to 30 years and that the average area of his home range is only between 25 and 30 miles and that a grizzly will pass a certain locality on his range about once every 30 to 50 days. Also, contrary to common belief, he will not attack a human unless provoked and will go out of his way to avoid trouble.

Mr. Hubbard has added many stories of individual grizzlies who were especially newsworthy, such as Two Toes, Bloody Paws, Old Mose, Red Robber and Old Silver. Well illustrated with rare pictures, this is a delightful book for sportsmen and those who love the outdoors. Armand W. Reeder

THE TRAP, by Jean-Louis Cotte. (Abelard-Schuman, 207 pgs., $3.75.)

Most of the action of this novel by a young French writer occurs on one of the Balearic islands, a place of saltpans and screaming gulls. One of the chief characters is a half-crazed maimed man whom the islanders call King; his crippled mother carries a gun on her wheelchair, from which she sporadically bangs away at the gulls. Of course there is also a flashingly beautiful girl. She is loved by the Polish refugee who comes to the island to tell of the death of the "King's" brother on the mainland. He supposedly left a treasure on the island, and two gangsters come in search of it. From one end to the other, this is a story of violence and melodrama, and while the narrative moves rapidly across the events, it is handicapped by the unrelieved brutality of the story. Harry T. M.

DYER-BENNETT SINGS
AT WASHINGTON U.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

Richard Dyer-Bennet, the celebrated singer of folk songs, scored his usual success in a recital given last night in the Graham Memorial Chapel at Washington University.

His program was drawn from the folk literature of the British Isles, France, Germany and the United States and he brought to each group an appropriate style reinforced by a high degree of artistic cunning.

Many of the songs were ballads or ballad-like in nature and, being strophic in form, involved the repetition of simple tunes through many verses.

The recital became somewhat monotonous toward the end. Two hours of simple emotions, however deftly treated, are too much. Dyer-Bennet is much more effective when he combines folk material with art songs, and in last night's offerings the music sounded best when the listener was still fresh, that is, in the first part of the evening.

The melancholy history of the Irish came out in a song on the potato famine, "The Praties They Grow Small," and in another song called "I Met Her in the Garden Where the Praties Grow."

England was well represented by "Sweet Nightingale," "The Lancashire Poacher" and a song written by Henry VIII which bears the title "Where to Shall I Express My Inward Heaviness." There was a charming French song, "Tambourin."

Music with geographical associations extending from Vermont to Texas was included in the American group.

Dyer-Bennet's expressive lyric tenor voice was inflected with charm and distinction. He accompanied himself, as usual, on the guitar. To the extent that it was possible to bring variety to the occasion, he did so both in his selection of material and with his interpretive skill. The crowd in the auditorium applauded every number, including several encores, with ardor. The soloist, working without a set program, announced each number from the platform.

MAGICIANS TO GIVE 10-ACT
PROGRAM AT SHOW TONIGHT

Local magicians will present a 10-act program at their annual spring show at 8 p.m. today at the Y.M.H.A. auditorium, 724 Union boulevard.

The show, open to the public, is sponsored by the St. Louis unit of the International Brotherhood of Magicians. Most of the performers will be members who practice tricks as a hobby and appear on a variety of civic and charitable programs. Don Lavton, a professional magician, will be master of ceremonies.

News of the Churches in the St. Louis Area

21 ORDAINED PRIESTS
BY CARDINAL RITTERBy JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Twenty-one young men were ordained to the priesthood of the Catholic Church today by Cardinal Joseph E. Ritter at St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue.

All but two of the new priests are from St. Louis and 18 studied for the priesthood at Kenrick Seminary. Twenty of the new priests will serve in the St. Louis Archdiocese.

One of the ordainees is of the Resurrectionist Fathers order, the Rev. John Labno, C. R., of Chicago.

The 18 Kenrick seminarians who were ordained, and their parents, are the Rev. Paul G. Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Anthony, 4952 Botanical avenue; the Rev. Norman H. Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Christian, 6322 Henry avenue; the Rev. John A. Dittenhafer, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dittenhafer Sr., 4221 San Francisco avenue; the Rev. Robert V. Fleiter, Mr. and Mrs. Lester V. Fleiter, 6315 Heege road, Affton; the Rev. John L. Gantner, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Gantner, 127 Scott avenue, Ferguson.

The Rev. James E. Hanson, the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hanson of Cadet, Mo.; the Rev. Anthony J. Jansen, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jansen, 5325 Hodiarnot avenue, Jennings; the Rev. Robert P. Jovanovic, Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Jovanovic, 6106A Victoria avenue; the Rev. Robert A. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Marshall, 2210 University street; the Rev. John B. McEntee, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McEntee of Richmond Heights; the Rev. Joseph L. Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Richmond, 701 Tesmore Place, Ferguson; the Rev. Gregory L. Schmidt, Mrs. Frederick J. Schmidt, 4354 Maroon Court, Affton, and the late Mr. Schmidt.

The Rev. Paul John Spielman, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley M. Spielman, 115 Ferry street; the Rev. Edward J. Sudekum, the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sudekum of University City; the Rev. Donald J. Swabo, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic J. Swabo, 3208A Bailey avenue; the Rev. Lawrence DePew Walsh, Mrs. Edward A. Walsh, 1446 South Grand boulevard; and the late Mr. Walsh; the Rev. Bernard J. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Wilkins Sr., 1125 Cahoon drive, Florissant; and the Rev. James L. Winzerling, Robert H. Winzerling, 321 Hawkessbury drive, Cool Valley, and the late Mrs. Winzerling.

Two of the new priests prepared for the priesthood at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. The Rev. Eugene P. Selzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Selzer, 3948 Dover place. The Rev. Paul A. Zippel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Zippel of 7329 Sutherland avenue, Shrewsbury. Six other members of the Kenrick Seminary class of 1961 are from other dioceses and will be ordained in their own dioceses.

Lenten Speaker

THE REV. DR.
H. GRADY DAVISLUTHERANS WILL PREACH SERMONS
AT CATHEDRAL

The preacher at downtown Lenten noonday services, Monday through Thursday, will be the Rev. Dr. H. Grady Davis, professor at Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary. The services are held at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, from 12:10 to 12:40 p.m. They are sponsored by the Metropolitan Church Federation.

The speaker on Friday will be the Rev. William E. Leshar, pastor of Reem Memorial Lutheran Church, 1034 South Kingshighway.

The Rev. Dr. Davis is a graduate of Roanoke College, Salem, Va., and Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia. He served Lutheran pastorates for 27 years before joining the Chicago seminary faculty in 1937. He is professor of functional theology and director of worship.

LEADERS OF MEN'S WORK
DISCUSS NEW PROGRAM

Leaders of men's work in the United Church of Christ in the north midwestern area were meeting today at Elmhurst (Ill.) College. They include representatives of the National Laymen's Fellowship of Congregational Christian Churches and the Churchmen's Brotherhood of the Church.

William E. Peterson of St. Louis is director of the National Laymen's Fellowship, and the Rev. Dr. J. Kenneth Kohler, also of St. Louis, is executive secretary of the Churchmen's Brotherhood. Both are taking part in today's meeting.

The two men's organizations will enter the Council for Lay Life and Work of the United Church of Christ. The council embraces the activities of the men's and women's fellowships of the two old denominations. The meeting at Elmhurst is devoted to the organization and program of the council.

The United Church of Christ was formed in 1957 by a union of the two denominations.

CHURCHES GIVE AID TO CUBAN REFUGEES

American churches are rallying to the aid of some 20,000 Cuban refugees who have poured into the Miami (Fla.) area, the National Council of Churches reports. New refugees increase the number some 40 or 50 a week in southern Florida alone.

The National Council has sent the Rev. Dr. A. Russell Stevenson to Miami to serve as resident director of relief, on loan to the Protestant Latin American Emergency Committee. The relief program was set up by the council in co-operation with the Greater Miami Council of Churches.

The recent arrivals have no resources at all, the Rev. Dr. Stevenson said. The language barrier hampers them in seeking jobs, and "surrounding all their present difficulties is the terrible uncertainty of the future," he added.

Many of the able-bodied are eager for work but cannot find jobs, since Dade county, where Miami is situated, is one of the badly depressed areas cited by the government for its high unemployment rate.

"We are not dealing here with a group of exiles whom we may regard and assist at arm's length," the Rev. Dr. Stevenson said. "These refugees are cut adrift and have landed at our doorstep."

He pointed out that most of them are professional people; only 11 per cent are unskilled. "The pre-eminence of lawyers, doctors, teachers and medical technicians registered at the refugee center," said, "clearly points to efforts toward eliminating the upper and middle classes in Cuba."

Basic needs of the refugees are being provided by the Protestant committee, the National Catholic Welfare Conference and other agencies and by the state and United States Government.

DISCIPLES UNITE IN PROGRAM OF
EVANGELISM HERE

Fifteen Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in the St. Louis area are uniting in a program of evangelism. Guest leaders are taking part in the pre-Easter program.

The Rev. Dr. Gaines M. Cook of Indianapolis, executive secretary of the International Convention of Christian Churches, will conduct a preaching mission at Overland Christian Church, 2200 Lackland road, tomorrow through Thursday. He will speak tomorrow at 8:45 and 11 a.m., at 7:30 p.m., and at 7:30 p.m. daily through Thursday.

The Rev. Nelson Schuster is pastor of Overland Church. The Rev. Dr. Cook will address a meeting of Disciples ministers and their wives at Compton Heights Christian Church, 2149 South Grand boulevard, Monday at 4:30 p.m. He will discuss the status of negotiations of Disciples of Christ with the United Church of Christ on a proposed union.

The Rev. Dr. Jesse M. Bader of New York, general secretary of the World Convention of Churches of Christ, was the leader of an evangelism program at Union Avenue Christian Church, 733 Union boulevard, Sunday through Wednesday.

Other Disciples churches are holding preaching missions and programs of visitation evangelism.

PRIEST APPOINTED IN ALTON

Mrs. James J. Haggerty has been appointed pastor of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, in Alton, by Bishop William A. O'Connor of Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. Haggerty had been pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Springfield, since 1946. At the Alton parish, he succeeds Mrs. William T. Sloan, who died March 4.

Ohio State Has Narrow Squeak, Bonnies Lose in Regionals

K-State, Cincinnati Advance

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 18 (UPI)—The unbeaten Ohio State basketball team is finding, just as the federal revenue men once did, that there's plenty of trouble in them that Kentucky hills.

The Buckeyes huffed and puffed as never before this season to eke out a 56-55 decision over Louisville in an N.C.A.A. Mid-East regional game here last night. And without even a chance to regain its composure, Ohio State must face a hungry pack of Wildcats from the University of Kentucky in the regional final tonight.

While it was almost a curtain call for the Buckeyes, third-ranked St. Bonaventure and fifth-ranked Southern California weren't as lucky, the Bonnies falling before rampaging Wake Forest, 78-73, in the Eastern regional and the Trojans to Arizona State, 86-71, in the Far West regional.

St. Joseph's (Pa.) defeated Princeton, 72-67, and will try its luck against Wake Forest tonight, while Utah earned the right to meet Arizona State by stopping Loyola (Calif.), 91-75. Kentucky had a hectic session of its own Friday before downing Morehead State, 71-64, to qualify to meet Ohio State. In the Midwest regional, Cincinnati defeated Texas Tech, 78-55, and Kansas State eliminated Houston, 75-64.

Tension!

Ohio State, defending N.C.A.A. champion, the No. 1 college basketball team in the nation, and riding a 23-game winning streak extending over two years, managed to squeeze by Louisville only because John Turner, the Cardinals' top scorer, missed a foul shot with one second remaining to play.

The pride of the Ohioans—Jerry Lucas—considered the country's outstanding player, was held to nine points, the lowest in his collegiate career. The Buckeyes themselves were upset by the Louisville defense and committed 18 errors, about three times their normal rate.

The game was tight throughout, with the lead changing hands eight times in the latter part of the second half. The score was tied, 54-54, when John Havlicek hit a 30-foot jump shot with eight seconds remaining to give Ohio State the lead. On the ensuing play, Turner fouled, and after making his first shot, he missed the one that could have sent the game into overtime. Havlicek led the Buckeyes with 17 points.

Kentucky, seeking its fifth N.C.A.A. title, had to overcome a pesky Morehead five. Morehead led by one point with less than three minutes to go, but Roger Newman hit a set shot for the Wildcats and Carroll Burchett added two free throws to open a fairly safe margin.

Billy Lickert of Kentucky led scorers with 28 points while Granny Williams had 20 points for Morehead.

29 for Tom Stith.

Wake Forest, which pulled a shocking upset victory over St. John's in the qualifying round, continued to outsmart the smart set against St. Bonaventure. The Deacons trailed, 37-36, at halftime, but, under the guidance of center Len Chappell, they pulled away from the Bonnies in the second half. Chappell had 24 points and St. Bonaventure's all-America Tom Stith 29.

Princeton put on a bold rally to come within a single point of St. Joseph's with 26 seconds left after trailing earlier by 11, but Vince Kempman, who scored 21 points, converted two foul attempts to ice the game. Pete Campbell led the Ivy Leaguers with 24 points.

Second-ranked Cincinnati enjoyed a 37-20 halftime advantage over Texas Tech and rolled along to its nineteenth consecutive victory. Paul Hogue had 24 points and Bob Wiesenhahn 21 for the Bearcats, who meet Kansas State tonight.

Cleveland, Lincoln Win in Prep Games

Cleveland, which finished second in the 1960 Public High School League's baseball race, started off his 1961 campaign with a 6-5 victory over St. Mary's yesterday in a six-inning game. Gary Deshoyer's triple in the second was one of three extra base hits by Cleveland. Joe Abele tripled in the third to drive in two runs for the winners. Joe Mueller had opened the third with a double.

Lincoln of East St. Louis beat Sumner, 3-1, in a non-league contest at the winner's field.

Billikens Play Colorado State Defensive Showdown Expected

By Robert Morrison

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff
NEW YORK, March 18—St. Louis U. Coach John Benington chuckled as he read a scouting report on Colorado State, the Billikens' opponent in a National Invitation Basketball Tournament quarterfinal game tonight.

"When the Aggies get a four-point lead, they let the air out of the ball," Benington read aloud, and then put down the sheet of papers.

"Well, it looks like another tuff pull. They play that stupid kind of ball—we do. I wonder if we'll both be thrown out of that Garden."

That stupid kind of ball, which Benington called it in deprecating his own style rather than the execution of his players, means a fairly deliberate offensive approach and tough defense.

It isn't a style calculated to thrill fast-break fans, but maybe there'll be enough of that in other games of today's afternoon and evening doubleheaders.

First-round games this afternoon match Temple (19-7) vs. Army (17-6), and DePaul (17-7) vs. Providence (20-5).

St. Louis has a 19-8 record after its skin-of-the-teeth victory over Miami (Fla.), 55-56, Thursday night. The Bills will play Colorado State (17-8) at 6:30 o'clock, St. Louis time. The second game of the night show presents Memphis State (20-2), making its first tournament start, against Holy Cross, now 19-4 after beating Detroit, 86-82, Thursday.

Colorado State comes here after trying Utah for the Skyline Conference title and then losing a playoff game to that team. "Colorado had a 12-point lead but lost it trying to stall in the late minutes of the game," Benington said. The coach has a healthy regard for the kind of competition Colorado State has handled, sometimes with big victory margins.

"It's a good, smart team," he said.

Top Aggie scorer, with a 17.8 average, is a rugged, 6-5 sophomore from Alabama, Bill Green. He weighs 220, and plays center or forward. Another husky is 6-6 Ollie Watts, 20 pounds. But No. 2 scorer is Manny Lawrence, 6-2 and 170 pounds. He has a 13.9 average.

GROUP AGREES AREA Fugitive Caught NEEDS NEW COLLEGES

New colleges are needed in the St. Louis area, members of a recently appointed citizens committee to investigate the possibilities of obtaining new public higher educational facilities here agreed yesterday at their first meeting.

The group, appointed by Russell A. Grantham, chairman of the St. Louis County Council, discussed present and future needs for a four-year state college, a four-year branch of the University of Missouri and one or more junior colleges.

Kermit O. Bierbaum, superintendent of the Melville School District and chairman of the citizens committee, said previous studies were correct in recommending new colleges here.

Grantham gave the committee a briefing and reviewed other points which the committee was directed to consider. They include school legislation for the efforts of related groups and how the county government can assist in a program.

The committee tentatively scheduled its next meeting for March 30 in the executive offices of the County Council. At that time, the members will be prepared to consider school legislation, Bierbaum said.

E. R. Adams, retired superintendent of the Maplewood-Richmond Heights School District, is vice chairman of the committee. Other members are Mrs. E. A. Graham, Mrs. Robert C. Treiman, Edward Monaco, S. E. Freund, Mrs. Armand C. Forster, Gene C. Church, John R. Bean and Edward F. Ford, Jr.

Adams, retired superintendent of the Maplewood-Richmond Heights School District, is vice chairman of the committee. Other members are Mrs. E. A. Graham, Mrs. Robert C. Treiman, Edward Monaco, S. E. Freund, Mrs. Armand C. Forster, Gene C. Church, John R. Bean and Edward F. Ford, Jr.

FOREST PARK BLVD. REZONING BILL VOTED

A bill to rezone most of the block bounded by Forest Park boulevard, Euclid and Taylor avenues and Parkway place, from four-family to "E" multiple dwelling use was passed yesterday by the Board of Aldermen.

A large medical and office building is scheduled to be built on the north side of Forest Park boulevard opposite the block rezoned in yesterday's session. The rezoning will permit the erection of high-rise apartments and other large residential structures. The action had City Planning Commission approval. A public school and a public library are excluded from the measure.

Because of the length of yesterday's session, when a new building code was adopted, the board deferred until next Friday consideration of a revision of the master zoning ordinance. Purpose of the proposed revision is to tighten requirements for off-street parking for new construction in residential areas and to increase the lot size of such structures. Over-density of population now permitted in some areas under the present code would be reduced by the revision.

Escapes in Patrol Car.
Douglas Thompson got in the patrol car and sped away. He turned off on Highway W, a county road, and drove to the Clanhahan home about seven miles away.

Thompson later told police he stopped there because the Clanhahan garage door was open. He drove in, closed the door and walked into the house. Mrs. Clanhahan was talking on the telephone and Clanhahan, a farmer, was seated nearby. Each Clanhahan is about 70 years old.

Warning her with a motion to be quiet, Thompson told the receiver from Mrs. Clanhahan's hands and then gave it back to her.

Thinking quickly, Mrs. Clanhahan managed to get a message to her daughter, Mrs. Verna Hudson of Poplar Bluff, to whom she had been talking. Mrs. Hudson and her husband operate a grocery.

"I don't want those groceries," Mrs. Clanhahan said, changing the tone of her voice. "But get me some other groceries out here real quick."

She hung up. Mrs. Hudson, who like most other persons living in the area had been tense during the hunt for Thompson, immediately called Poplar Bluff. She told them something was wrong at her parents' home.

Six Poplar Bluff state policemen rushed to the Clanhahan house and surrounded it. Thompson said later that he thought about shooting it out with the officers, and then of taking his own life.

Finally, at the urging of Mrs. Clanhahan, he threw his P-38 automatic pistol on a bed and walked outside with his hands in the air. Mrs. Clanhahan walked ahead of him.

Police Chief Eldon Whitworth and Trooper L. H. Murphy seized Thompson. He was taken to the Poplar Bluff jail.

Six policemen from the Poplar Bluff department and Troop E of the State Patrol rushed to the Clanhahan house.

Thompson, without identifying himself, had told Mr. and Mrs. Clanhahan that he was in trouble. "I don't want any more trouble," he said, "and I won't give you any trouble. Just take it easy."

Thompson said he planned to leave in Clanhahan's automobile. However, the police showed up and cut off his chances of escape.

Mrs. Clanhahan begged the convict to give himself up. "You have some life left," she said. "Let's not have any shooting."

Thompson gave her $1142, all that was left of more than $7000 taken by him and his companions since they broke out of the San Luis Obispo jail. Mrs. Clanhahan put the money in an empty sugar bowl.

"Take this if you want it," Thompson said. "I might get killed. If they catch me, keep it."

Mrs. Clanhahan later turned the money over to the police. Thompson said later he had thought about shooting it out with police, and then had considered taking his own life. Instead, however, he threw his P-38 automatic pistol on a bed and decided to surrender.

"I asked him about his family," Mrs. Clanhahan said later. Thompson told her he had a wife and two small children living in Bakersfield, Calif.

"I told him his family would rather have him in prison than dead," Mrs. Clanhahan said. "I told him that if he went out with his hands over his head, the Lord would be with him."

Thompson agreed to go. Mrs. Clanhahan went first, with the convict directly behind her. Both held their hands high in air.

As the officers closed in, Thompson passed the woman. He was quickly grabbed by Police Chief Eldon Whitworth and Trooper L. H. Murphy. He was taken to the Poplar Bluff jail.

Way Out of K.P. for G.I.s.
LEHIGH, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—American soldiers at Camp Darby are getting a chance to buy their way out of K.P. Lt. Jake Ruppe, commander of the mess hall at the United States Army supply base in central Italy, said yesterday every Camp Darby enlisted man could get out of kitchen police detail by contributing $4 a month to hire Italian civilians. Each soldier here draws K.P. about once a month.

Music for Tennessee Convicts.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18 (UPI)—Gov. Buford Ellington said yesterday work will begin immediately on a $30,000 communications system at the state prison to pipe entertainment and music to prisoners in their cells.

PRESIDENT URGES CIVIL WAR GROUP TO BAR RACE BIAS

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—President Kennedy has asked the Civil War Centennial Commission to see to it that Negro and white members get equal treatment when the commission meets in Charleston, S.C., next month. Mr. Kennedy stepped into the controversy over racial segregation with a letter to Commission Chairman U.S. Grant III.

The White House declined to release the text of the letter, but Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said yesterday that Mr. Kennedy's "general position was that the commission is an official body of the Government and has an obligation in sponsoring meetings to see to it that those invited are accorded equal treatment."

The controversy arose over the complaint of a Negro member of the commission's New Jersey unit that she had been denied accommodations at the headquarters hotel in Charleston. The commission plans to hold its annual meeting there April 11 and 12.

Grant said at his home in Clinton, N.Y., last night that he had not received Mr. Kennedy's letter and would have no statement until he received it and spoke to the members of the commission.

JURY IN COORS MURDER COMPLETED AFTER 5 DAYS

GOLDEN, Colo., March 18 (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was selected late yesterday for the murder trial of Joseph Corbett Jr.

District Attorney Ronald J. Hardesty goes to the jury today with an opening statement in which he will contend that Corbett murdered millionaire brewer Adolph Coors III in a $500,000 kidnapping attempt.

Opposing attorneys reached agreement on the panel after five days of examining 80 prospective jurors. Some of these knew, or worked for Coors and many said they held opinions that would prevent them from impartial jury duty.

Coors, head of the Adolph Coors brewery, disappeared Feb. 9, 1960, and seven months later his remains were found in a mountain dump south of Golden.

World Favorite

Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida holding the Golden Globe award presented to her Thursday night after she was named the world's favorite actress. Award was made at the annual dinner of the Hollywood Foreign Press Association and was the result of votes cast by 1,500,000 fans in 50 countries. Rock Hudson and Tony Curtis tied for the favorite actor award. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Testing for Carrier

Test vehicle weighing 45 tons and made up of airtight compartments hurtles from the bow of the new super carrier Kitty Hawk in test at the New York Shipbuilding Co. yards at Camden, N.J., yesterday. Huge vessel is being put through final check and test program before being turned over to the Navy next month. Airborne vehicle was used to test the carrier's aircraft launchers. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Product of Civilization

Sophie, female moose that has learned to accept civilization, stands poised and ready for a jaunt over the snow-covered byways at Carleton, Que. In the sleigh is Andre Lacroix, who captured the animal when it was only a few months old in 1959. He has trained it to live in a barn with farm animals and to approach him on command, in addition to pulling the sleigh. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Spring Encounter

Budding naturalist Pamela Clark offers radiant approval of crocus blossoms providing a spot of early spring color. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, 1115 Ann avenue, and is one of 2500 Camp Fire Girls who are completing a community tree planting program. Their organization, a United Fund agency, will mark its fiftieth anniversary tomorrow with a pageant at Kiel Auditorium.

Rolling Celebration

Merriment is mobile and streetcar is named Pat as Washington University students and their dates pay happy respects to Ireland's St. Patrick. Students, from the school of architecture, chartered the Public Service Co. car last night for a city-wide celebration of their patron saint's day. Trip covered a variety of routes and lasted about 3 hours.

The Brain and the Heart

By Ramon Coffman

A SIXTH GRADE class has asked me a question that is hard to answer. Here it is:

"Is the brain superior to the heart?"

From a physical standpoint, it seems to me that heart and brain are of equal importance.

What good would a heart be without a brain? What good would a brain be without a heart to supply it with blood and make it live?

The question becomes hard when we think of mental and spiritual angles.

It is common to say that a person with a kind nature has a "good heart" or a "kind heart." If you were given the choice of living with people who had high brain power but little kindness, or people with much kindness but almost no brain power, which would you choose?

I can see arguments both ways. Certainly I like to have kind-hearted friends and relatives, but how would life be if they kept making dangerous mistakes?

If a friend of mine suddenly lost his brain power and sank to the level of a moron, what would he be a safe companion? What if I knew nothing about the change, and let him drive me somewhere in his car? Then there would be serious danger of an accident.

On the other hand, it surely would be a sad thing if people around us were without kind hearts. I hardly think I could enjoy life in that case.

If we were forced to decide between the two kinds of people, I suppose that those with enough brain power would be the better choice. There would be hope that they would develop kindness with the passing of time.

For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook.
